

Code of Ethics

As set forth in the Engineer, Land Surveyor and Geologist Registration Law
Act 1945, P.L. 913, No. 367 (as amended), Section 4(g)

It shall be considered unprofessional and inconsistent with honorable and dignified bearing for any professional engineer or professional land surveyor or professional geologist;

To act for his client or employer in professional matters otherwise than as a faithful agent or trustee, or to accept any remuneration other than his stated recompense for services rendered.

To attempt to injure falsely or maliciously, directly or indirectly, the professional reputation, prospects or business of anyone.

To attempt to supplant another engineer, land surveyor or geologist after definite steps have been taken toward his employment.

To compete with another engineer, land surveyor or geologist for employment by the use of unethical practice.

To review the work of another engineer, land surveyor or geologist for the same client, except with the knowledge of such engineer, land surveyor or geologist, or unless the connection of such engineer, land surveyor or geologist with the work has terminated.

To attempt to obtain or render technical services or assistance without fair and just compensation commensurate with the services rendered; Provided, however, the donation of such services to a civic, charitable, religious or eleemosynary organization shall not be deemed a violation.

To advertise in self-laudatory language, or in any other manner, derogatory to the dignity of the profession.

To attempt to practice in any field of engineering, land surveying or geology in which the registrant is not proficient.

To use or permit the use of his professional seal on work over which he was not in responsible charge.

To aid or abet any person in the practice of engineering, land surveying or geology not in accordance with the provision of this act or prior laws.
